LOCATION

The New Three Mariners is a traditional character village pub which has been fully modernised whilst retaining its impressive character. A well appointed public house with rooms at the heart of the renowned tourist village of Laugharne with its medieval castle and strong links to the hard drinking writer and poet Dylan Thomas. This character property appears to be constructed mainly of stone with rendered and colourwashed elevations under predominantly pitched slate tiled roofs. The property was the subject of a full refurbishment programme in 2012 and is still presented in very good order throughout. Little major investment, other than general upkeep, will be required for many years to come.

The property currently provides an open plan character trading area to the ground floor, with deceptively large accommodation at first and second floors. The property was developed to provide six letting bedrooms with an additional one bedroom flat, however our clients have never promoted the letting rooms and more recently have let it on an assured shorthold tenancy. The size of the accommodation offers a great amount of flexibility for a number of uses including letting or private. The well known destination of Laugharne is located on the south coast of Carmarthenshire on the estuary of the River Taf. The village is home to its impressive castle, but is more famous as the home of Dylan Thomas, and is generally accepted as the inspiration for the fictional town of Llaureggub in "Under Milk Wood". The village's quaintness and its links to Dylan Thomas have ensured its popularity as a tourist destination, and attracts large numbers of visitors throughout the year.

THE BUSINESS

The business trades as a traditional pub with a small element of food and accommodation. Our clients accounts for the financial year ending 2018 show sales of £244,000, split approximately 85% wet, 7% catering and 8% accommodation. Our clients operate this business under management along with its sister business Brown's Hotel which is located across the road. Therefore the businesses have never tried to compete in catering or accommodation and this offers scope for new owners to increase the already established wet sales.

At present our clients rent the former letting accommodation as a single dwelling and the managers flat as a single dwelling. These provide a combined rental income of £1,050 per month split approximately £700/£350.
