Location

The Cyder House is situated in the charming and quintessential Surrey village of Shackleford. The village lies approximately 5 miles south-west of Guildford, close to the A3, a vital dual carriageway running between the M25 at Cobham to Portsmouth via Guildford and Petersfield. The village is set on the edge of the Surrey Hills National Landscape, close to numerous nature reserves, commons and National Trust sites. The nearby town of Godalming houses all necessary amenities including medical facilities, schools, supermarkets and a leisure centre.

The main line between London Waterloo and Portsmouth Harbour is accessible from nearby Farncombe and Godalming Railway Stations.

The Property

The Cyder House is a purpose-built Victorian public house, which has been subject to investment in recent years and is presented to a high standard throughout.
